MR. FRED MEURER

Mr. Meurer graduated from the United States Military Academy at West Point in 1966. He was commissioned as a Corps Engineer Officer. Mr. Meurer received graduate degrees from Stanford University in Water Resources Planning and Civil Engineering in 1971. He had overseas assignments in Germany, Viet Nam and Korea. He also served as the Test Director for the operational test of the Apache Helicopter and the Hellfire Missile Systems. His final tour of active duty was as Director of Public Works and Housing at Fort Ord. During his time at Ft. Ord, he pioneered the idea of the Army recapitalizing its family housing inventory through public-private partnerships. His concept was ultimately embraced by all of the Services as a very rapid and cost effective way of providing quality family house for America's warriors. Mr. Meurer retired from the Army as a Colonel in 1986.

Mr. Meurer was hired by the City of Monterey in 1986 where he served as Public Works Director for five years until his appointment to City Manager in July 1991. As City Manager, Mr. Meurer was instrumental in developing working relationships between businesses and residential neighborhoods, as well as with City Hall. He led the development of the City's neighborhood improvement, neighborhood policing, and waterfront acquisition and tourism development programs. He also was the catalyst for creating Intergovernmental Support Agreements and partnership agreements between the Cities on the Monterey Peninsula, Monterey County and the State of California for shared serviced services. He also developed partnerships with the private sector to augment City services and recapitalization of infrastructure needs.

Building on the City to City partnerships, Mr. Meurer led the effort to develop cooperative relationships between the City of Monterey and the Department of Defense (DoD) activities in Monterey. This effort focused on further increasing DoD mission effectiveness while reducing their operating costs. His goal was to provide the same high quality municipal services to DoD activities and personnel as the City provides its civilian neighborhoods. He has been successful in obtaining language in several defense authorization bills to demonstrate the viability of Public-Public partnerships. This concept was embraced by the Secretary of Defense as a model for Community-Installation Collaboration and led to legislation in the FY 13 and FY15 National Defense Authorization Act. This legislation authorized Service Secretaries to enter into Intergovernmental Support Agreements (IGSA) with local governments when in the best interest of the services to do so.

Mr. Meurer retired from the City of Monterey in December of 2013. He now works for the Panetta Institute in Monterey and as an independent consultant to Booz Allen Hamilton.
